

Patten Free Library Announces Winter Film Series

February is the month of Valentine's Day and the Academy Awards. To mark both occasions, Patten Free Library in Bath is hosting a 9-week series of Oscar-winning love stories. Starting Wednesday, February 1 and ending March 28, the library will screen films chosen from the American Film Institute's "100 Years... 100 Passions," a list of the greatest love stories of all time. Each film also won the Best Picture Oscar in its respective year.

The schedule includes 4 romantic comedies, 3 dramas, and 2 musicals, including the following: a 1985 release based on the writings of Isak Dinesen starring Meryl Streep and Robert Redford; a Woody Allen classic from 1977 starring one of Woody's favorite leading ladies, Diane Keaton; Leonard Bernstein's contemporary re-telling of Romeo & Juliet set on the streets of New York City; and a 1934 screwball comedy with Claudette Colbert and Clark Gable. The complete title list is available at the library or by calling 443-5141 x12.

Show time is at 2:00pm in the library's community room. Attendance is free and open to the public, but donations are always welcomed. Refreshments provided.

Thanks to the generosity of an anonymous donor, the library now has a full size retractable movie screen. So grab your sweetie and come to Patten Free Library for an afternoon of award-winning cinema this winter!
